

Exporting: Is it for you?

There has never been a better time for Derbyshire based businesses to grow by trading overseas.

The Department for International Trade, in partnership with Derbyshire Economic Partnership and High Peak Borough Council, are offering these free half-day workshops to help you decide whether or not exporting is right for you. Attendance is free, all we ask for is a little of your time – it could be the best investment you make this year.

About the workshops:

Exclusively available to companies based in the Derbyshire region, these interactive and thought-provoking sessions are aimed at companies interested in exporting, and designed to set them on the path to start winning business overseas. Open to companies selling products or services, we take a look at the business benefits of exporting, the considerations you need to take into account, and consult our own 'readiness-checker'.

Delivered by our experienced International Trade Advisers on the day, you will also hear from local companies who are already realising the benefits of selling a variety of products or services overseas. In this way, we aim to help attendees to decide whether exporting is right for their business and to showcase the breadth of support available to all.
